Created for the bold, the DuraPro Armor strap by Spigen is a combination of modern materials that blend durability and style, creating a unique accessory for your smartwatch.

The innovative use of two materials - nylon and TPU - creates a strap with two layers, providing not only durability but also comfort while wearing. The metal connectors perfectly complement the whole, bringing out its natural character. The patterned structure of the strap not only catches the eye but also serves an important function - ensuring excellent breathability. This means that even in intense situations, you can enjoy wearing comfort, regardless of the environment.

DuraPro Armor is much more than just an ordinary accessory for daily activities. It is a striking element that allows you to express your individual style, combining lightness, durability, and activity.
