Product code: 5906302331628

EAN: 5906302331628

Tech-Protect Kevlar MagSafe is a rugged series of cases that will protect your device from all angles in any conditions. The case is designed based on advanced hybrid construction, making it perfectly fitted and lightweight.

The two-part casing combines a hard armor that attaches to the back, made of PC coating and shock-resistant TPU. Additional reinforcement in the corners - protective air cushions - effectively absorbs every fall. The front of the device is surrounded by a frame with an integrated polycarbonate shield. This solution effectively separates the display, protecting it from scratches.

Raised edges protect the lens and display of your smartphone from damage, the anti-slip finish, and the ability to wirelessly charge are additional features that the Kevlar MagSafe is equipped with.

Compatibility with MagSafe technology makes using the device even easier and more convenient. You can effortlessly charge your phone and use various accessories with Apple technology.

The last element worth mentioning is the functional kickstand. The easy-to-use leg serves both as a stand - allowing you to position the phone vertically and horizontally - and as a finger grip to securely hold the phone in your hand.

The Kevlar case has a military certification MLT-STD-810H, which means that the product has undergone specialized durability tests and meets strict user requirements.
